HOAGLAND'S
NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!
W. E. COOPER
HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive Carriage Factory,
Corner of Second and Morrison Streets.
He respectfully refers to the following
CARD.
Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling invented by H. R. Hoagland we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used.
It fastens without bolt or screw and is therefore easily and speedily separated. It rests on Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure.
It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use, and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent, heretofore considered the best in use.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

EASTERN DATES TO FEBRUARY 4

Congressional

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—[illegible] from the Finance Committee reported [illegible] the funding [illegible] banking [illegible] payments [illegible] three classes [illegible] fund [illegible] are at [illegible] per cent [illegible] fifteen years at 4½ per cent, and the third, twenty and forty years at 4 per cent. It authorizes National Banks to exchange their present bonds and take new bonds [illegible] the amount [illegible] within one year after the passage of the bill. It provides further to increase the capital of National Banks to the amount of one hundred millions, and for the withdrawal of the same amount of greenbacks. It also provides for the setting aside yearly of one hundred and fifty millions from the customs and receipts to pay the interest on the public debt and for a sinking fund to reduce the principal.

Chandler introduced a bill to reorganize the marine hospital service and to provide for sick and disabled seamen.

Abbott offered a resolution which was adopted reciting the outrages frequent in the Southern States, and directing the Judiciary Committee to inquire into the power of the Government to protect citizens, and report what legislation was required, and on the constitutionality and expediency of establishing a national police force for the better enforcement of law.

On motion of Morrill the joint resolution authorizing the Secretary of the Navy to transfer to the use of the bureau of construction and repairs and steam engineering such appropriations to the credit of other bureaus in that department as may be required was taken up. Sherman said that the last session of Congress appropriated all the money deemed necessary for construction and repairs, but that the Navy Department had contracted for expenses to twice the amount appropriated. It had been the custom of the various Departments to transfer money without specific legislation by Congress. He proposed that Congress should put an end to such practices and favored the present bill because it enabled the Government to proceed with work now incomplete, and which unless finished, would be liable to injury from neglect or decay.

Morrill, Cragen and Nye spoke in support of the bill.

Trumbull opposed the bill because it continued in employment 7,000 men in time of peace upon the construction of war vessels.

Howard opposed the bill because he did not believe in converting the United States into an eleemosynary institution.

Morrill, of Vermont, moved an amendment by adding that the wages paid employees should be no higher than those paid by private citizens in the respective localities.

Morton said the amendment would absolutely overturn the eight hour law in navy yards in the United States. But after discussion the amendment was adopted by a vote of 29 to 22. The bill was finally laid aside in order to permit Carpenter to address the Senate upon the Neutrality bill.

Carpenter controverted the positions assumed by Sumner in a former discussion on fitting out Spanish gunboats, and argued at length in favor of the recognition of Cuban belligerency.

Sumner replied briefly, and some colloquial debate took place between Howard and Carpenter.

The Vice President presented a communication from the President relative to troubles in the Winnepeg country, which he referred to the Senate when it went into executive session. Senate adjourned.

In the House Julien introduced a bill to amend the Homestead Act.

Allison introduced a bill to bring the Metric system of weights and measures into public use.

Cullom, from the Committee on Territories reported a bill to aid the execution of the laws in Utah, which was recommitted. The tenth section makes incompetent grand or petit jurors who advocate or practice concubinage, bigamy or polygamy. The thirteenth section enacts that any man in Utah who shall live or cohabit with more than one woman, or with other than his lawful wife, shall be adjudged guilty of the crime of concubinage, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 and imprisonment in the penitentiary at hard labor for not exceeding five years. The seventeenth section authorizes the United States Marshal, if resisted or threatened with resistance in the execution of any writ or process to apply to the commander of any military camp in the Territory for a posse. The nineteenth section provides that no alien practicing bigamy or concubinage shall be admitted to United States citizenship, nor shall any polygamist hold any office of trust or profit in the Territory, vote therein or be entitled to the benefits of the homestead or pre-emption laws. The twenty third section enacts that marriages in the Territory shall be solemnized only by Justices of the Supreme Court, by a Justice of the Peace duly appointed and qualified, and by any priest or minister of the gospel regularly ordained and settled. It declares that all consanguinous marriages are incestuous and are void and punishable by twenty years imprisonment in the penitentiary. The bill is very long, containing thirty four sections.

On motion of Schenck the tax bill was made the special order for the 1st of March, to be taken up after the tariff bill.

Spink introduced a bill to grant lands for a railroad from the Minnesota State line to Yankton, Dakota Territory.

Schumacker offered a resolution directing the action of the Committee on Banking on all questions concerning United States bonds, and [illegible] also a resolution asking the President for information concerning the treatment of American citizens in British prisons, which was discussed until the expiration of the morning hour, when Butler, from the Reconstruction Committee, reported a bill to admit Mississippi to representation in Congress.

Butler said the bill was an exact copy of the Virginia bill, though some members of the committee would have been glad to have changed in some respects. The whole matter however having been so fully discussed and the precedent set in the case of Virginia, after deliberation it was thought best to admit Mississippi under the same conditions. He moved the previous question, first allowing Farnsworth [illegible] Beck to offer a substitute admitting Mississippi without condition. The substitute was rejected by 85 to 95, and the bill as reported then passed.

Dawes, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported a bill to supply the deficiency for the navy. It appropriates $3,000,000 to the bureau of steam engineering and bureau of construction and repairs, conveying into the Treasury the same amount of unexpended balances from the bureau of provisions and clothing, the bureau of yards and docks and other bureaus of the navy department.

He yielded temporarily for a report from the Election Committee in the case of Van Wyck against Greene, also [illegible] of Hayden's report of the Geological Survey of Colorado and New Mexico.

The House then took up the naval deficiency bill. Dawes specially [illegible] the [illegible] Secretary of the Navy [illegible] naval officers and [illegible]

Washington News

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Secretary Robeson has [illegible] a letter to Captain Commodore [illegible] congratulating him on the safe arrival [illegible] and tendering him the [illegible] of any [illegible] navy yards for the purpose of making any necessary repairs. The vessel [illegible] visit [illegible] Annapolis where Senators and Representatives would have an opportunity to visit the noble ship under his command.

In the [illegible] Morrill's amendment [illegible] Senators [illegible] in the negative.

The Senate in executive session to-day acted on the nomination of Hoar as Associate Justice of the Supreme Court. One report says he was rejected by the vote, but a more reliable statement is that the Senate by a vote of 24 ayes to 33 noes refused to take the nomination from the table. This action is considered equivalent to his rejection. There was no debate.

The Senate confirmed Henry Carpenter as Postmaster at Hamilton, Nev., and W. S. Wood [illegible] as Attorney for Nevada.

Governor Warmouth and the Louisiana Legislature

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 4.—The committee appointed by the Lafayette Square meeting visited Governor Warmouth to-day, and presented their resolutions. Gov. Warmouth made some disclosures as to how certain measures had been engineered through the legislature, and said he had been offered $50,000 to sign the Five Million Bond bill for redeeming city money and $50,000 to sign the Nicholson Pavement bill, both of which he vetoed. The Governor complained of the refusal of leading men of the State to counsel with him, and said that if good citizens will give him earnest support there will be no difficulty in restraining the improvident administration.

Cuban News

HAVANA, Feb. 3.—Two men were killed in this city last night. Subscriptions are coming in freely for the orphans of Castonon. The Spaniards manifest great indignation at his being killed. Reports come from all parts of the island of public demonstrations of bitterness against the Cubans. The Captain General has dispatched to Matanzas a warning to volunteers, that they will give a poor idea of the government which employs them by committing acts in retaliation and advising them to confine themselves to their duty.

Confirmation of a Reported Cuban Victory

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—The details of the important battle at Mina di Juan Rodriques, between Jordan and Puelo on New Year's day has been received. According to intelligence gathered purely from American and Spanish sources, the victory of the Cubans was complete and decisive. The battle was fought at the point above named, one of the approaches to Guaymas, the Cuban seat of Government. It lasted all day and ended with the retreat of Puelo after a total loss of 1,200 to 1,600 killed, wounded and taken prisoners. The Cubans pursued and harrassed the flying enemy until the latter reached Arago Norago, where Puelo entrenched himself and stood a seige of fifteen days, suffering great privations, killing horses and mules for food. The approach of the Spanish column under Gen. Goyeneche induced the Cubans to raise the seige. Puelo escaped with the remains of his army to the small seaport of Boga, where a Spanish vessel removed them to Neuvitas.

A postscript adds a rumor that Puelo had been seized by the enraged Spanish volunteers at Neuvitas and is captive in their hands.

The Gold Conspiracy Investigation

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Specials say the Gold Conspiracy Committee have traced the circumstances connected with the transmission of Secretary Boutwell's dispatch to sell four million of gold, which broke down the market. It was not in cypher. It was filed at the branch office near the Treasury. This office connects with all the hotels and branch offices so that all could hear the message. It was sent to New York over the broker's line which connects with the gold room at Baltimore, the gold room and Exchange Board of brokers and other similar offices to New York, where a message could be heard fifteen minutes before it reached Gen. Butterfield.

The Vote on Confirmation of Hoar.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—A special Washington dispatch says of the action of the Executive session of the Senate yesterday on the nomination of Hoar to the Supreme bench, that all the Southern Senators except Warren, of Alabama, and Gilbert of Florida voted in the negative. Williams of Oregon was the only Senator from the Pacific coast who voted yea. Both the New York Senators voted nay, also all the Democrats. Morton was not present, but would have voted yea. Sherman was also absent. It is definitely known that Hoar's present intention is to remain in the Cabinet.

The Spanish Crown Jewels Heard From

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—A New York special says a gentleman from Mexico says the Crown Jewels of Spain which have been missing from Madrid since the expulsion of Queen Isabella are at the National Montivido, in the City of Mexico, where they are held in pawn. They include jewels pledged when Columbus was outfitted.

New York News

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—The Sun demands the impeachment of Collector Grinnell on the ground that he paid Blatchford his salary as deputy from the time he ran away until he returned to the fine at Washington.

The trade in beef cattle with the Rocky Mountains appears to be a fixed fact. The Texan drovers take them into Colorado and other Territories near the line of rail, and thence, when they are fat, ship them either east or west, as the market suits. Something More to be Done mbined efforts of the Immigrant Aid on and the newspapers of Oregon, tise our State in the East are likely quite successful much more so than we had anticipated. It is now no mon thing to find in our Eastern ex clippings from the publications of rd of Statistics or from the papers of e giving information on such sub are usually most important and inter o people contemplating removal to st In a late number of a New York for instance, we find, taken from the IAN, a table of wages which we some o published, as prepared by Secretary

This information will go into the of thousands of laborers by means of this publication in New York, and time it has been copied into a hundred apers who can calculate the effect it ave in directing the surplus laborers of ast toward our State? But this item ot go alone. We have found within t few weeks a considerable number of republished from Oregon papers, show- e price of lands, the productiveness of our he chances for profitable investment in s enterprises, the mildness and health- s of our climate, etc. It might have d trivial to many of our people that, at me, we mentioned the fact that a floral t of a dozen or more varieties, was red from an open garden in January at er time that green peas were gathered cember, etc. But these items are going unds of the Eastern press, and will do to attract attention to our extraordinary s than all the pamphlets published on and other Oregon subjects. Newspapers publish paragraphs by the dozen when would altogether decline long articles , item by item, the matters which con- ns to have published in the East, are laid before the public—seeds cast by ayside, to spring up and bear us fruits migration.

s clear that we are now becoming better rtised and better known than ever before, hich, thanks to the Board of Statistics and ewspapers which have so cheerfully lent assistance. And now there are some s yet to be done, the importance of h is not second to that already done. nsportation has been reduced to actual igrants, by the Pacific Railroad, the Hol- y steamships, and the O. S. N. Co's line avel; but there needs to be a still further ction on all these lines. The cost of l to immigrants should be made as light ossible—not above the actual expenses rred in furnishing transportation. No one he lines mentioned would be loser a single , but rather the gainer in the long run, making such reduction. They would very regain the lost profits, through the de- pment of the country and the increase of ness. The Board of Statistics, as the ex- tive committee for the people, must act as changing agent in this business. It ht not to be backward in asking the largest ns for the immigrants. It should make ition to all the transportation lines for ber and the utmost possible reductions are and baggage freight Having secured t it can in this behalf, it should appoint gent at Omaha whose business it shall o look after the emigrants for Oregon and "check" them through with certificates he effect that they are bona fide emigrants oving to Oregon to reside. This is nec- ry to prevent imposition upon the trans- ation lines by tramping bummers, and on other hand to prevent hardships being upon real emigrants, who might other- be mistaken for mere travelers and be ged the traveling rates of fare.

e Board of Statistics ought, it possible nd all things are possible to earnest ener- to raise funds to be applied for the relief mmigrants who may arrive in destitute or ate circumstances; to forward them ints where they may find the means of ort; to assist them in getting work or in ng shelter, or in learning where and how ay farms; and generally to lend a help- hand wherever actual need or merit may for it. It could hardly be claimed as fair st conduct, if we should induce people ome here and then leave them utterly to r own resources after arrival.

hat we have suggested is probably as h as can reasonably be expected of the rd of Statistics for the coming season. to do this, even, will require an earnest t on the part of the Board, and a cheer- generous co-operation on the part of the ple. There must be no shirking of our onsibilities. Those who are to be bene- d by peopling our State must consider the Board cannot do its work without ey. Let the business men of Oregon go n into their pockets and produce the ns. The immigrant harvest will be ample ugh to repay over and over again, all the enditures.

on Iron Mines—What Might Have Been and What May Be.

e Stockton Republican alluding to the haustible iron resources of Oregon, tions the Oswego mine in particular says: "One half of one quarter per cent he money California has paid in duty and ght on railroad iron imported from Europe shipped from the east, would have ted works at this point which would turned out a superior quality of T rail fficient quantity to iron all the railroads he Pacific coast." We do not doubt but might have been done, nor that if it had done, the railroad companies would e procured a quality of rail whose endu- ce would have more than compensated for extra cost, if any. The Oswego iron is nguished for its toughness a very essen- quality in railroad iron; and it has been that the quality is too good to make it itable to work it into rails This objection shes, however, before the fact that there nough of it to make all the rails the Pa coast could ever want, besides supplying he extra quality iron which could be ted for other purposes It is not too late t in practice what is suggested by the kton paper Railroading on the Pacific t is yet in its infancy Scarcely a tithe he iron has yet been used that is to be grand aggregate laid down in this and the decades If San Francisco can make after transporting the raw material long voyages, what could hinder the success orks at this mine where the ore is just at d, and where the rails could be passed the rolling mills on the bank to the sporting vessels in the stream" This is roposition worthy the attention of the road capitalists

chier is said to be rather a ry He writes a dozen notes of complaint to the managers

Editorial Notes

We fancy that the news of the bill to abolish and prevent polygamy in Utah of which the telegraph brings a synopsis will stir up in Brigham one of the highest old rows ever seen west of the Rocky Mountains We remember how years ago, the emigrants used to repeat facetiously, when getting a full snuff from some of Utah's sulphur springs the Dutchman's exclamation "Hell ish not ven half mile from dish plash" When Brigham and the Elders and the sisters get news of that bill it will doubtless be no difficult thing, for a disinterested spectator and auditor to imagine that Hell is right here, now" Won't there be some tall old profanity and reverend "bucking, and ground and lofty tumbling by the entire strength of the troupe"

The people of Idaho appear to be vastly excited about the proposition contained in Senator Stewart's bill, to detach a portion of the Territory and give it to Nevada Two or three public meetings have been held to protest against the consummation of the measure. On the 25th ult, at such a meeting at Boise City, resolutions were formally adopted reciting that the proposed cession would rob Idaho of her richest mines and a large portion of her best agricultural lands, that the division would do injustice to the people cut off as well as to those remaining, that it is against the wishes of all the people, that it would seriously impair the credit of the Territory by diminishing both population and domain, that the division geographically would be unnatural etc The Delegate in Congress was instructed to strenuously oppose the division. A formal remonstrance to be forwarded to Congress was agreed upon

As an illustration of how the introduction of capital helps the consumer to a cheaper living, we may mention the case of the two admantine candle manufactories started at San Francisco in 1868. For five years previous to that time candles had ruled from 20 to 24 cts. The establishment of the factories begot a competition which brought candles down to 15 and 17 cents, making them at least twenty five per cent cheaper to the consumer The same cause raised the price of tallow in still greater proportion, thus benefitting the laborers and producers doubly. And the factories not only made a prime article of consumption cheaper, but they gave employment to a considerable number of people. This is a simple illustration, but it shows how capital and labor naturally go hand in hand, and how it is the interest of labor to encourage rather than to quarrel with capital as our Democratic demogogues advise.

A correspondent at Walla Walla furnishes us some political information—matters and things current in the eastern part of the Territory. It appears pretty plain that J. D. Mix, of Walla Walla, is the choice of the Democracy for candidate for Congress. Newell got badly used up last year when he undertook to debate with Garfielde and he don't want any more of it in "his'n." Lasater, popularly known as "Advalorem," has withdrawn from the field, having, discovered that his calibre is too small, and that the affection of the masses for him, is not of the most remarkable sort. It has not been discovered yet what particular hobby, Mix will attempt to ride. He is said, however, to be an adept at riding double, and it is expected he will be on both sides of any issue that may be raised Our correspondent concludes: "Ex-Governor Moore was the most popular man the Democrats have had since General Stevens' time No man they can nominate this side of the mountains, can make the run that Governor Moore made. The best man they could put up, and the most able man they have in their ranks, is N. T. Caton, Esq. The claims of Hon. F. P. Dugan seem to be ignored entirely. His name is not mentioned in this connection. W. H Newell lays no claim to the Delegateship. He says that during the sittings of the late legislature he killed (politically I mean) Lassater, and the latter says he killed Newell; so we may conclude they are both dead. As it is none of our funeral we need not complain, but we can look on the wreck with cool indifference, and wish them a good time over their future prospects."

The State Elections of 1870—The Two Parties and Their Platforms.

[From the N Y Herald]

Both parties in New Hampshire have declared their platforms for 1870 The Democrats, leading off, express their faith in their abiding party principles; they oppose centralization and stick to State rights, they denounce the notion of Congress in relation to Georgia, they protest against the burdens of the Internal Revenue and Tariff laws; they denounce monopolies, they go for taxing all contracts, bonds and securities, national bonds and securities with the rest, and they go for paying the national debt, not otherwise specified, in currency. This is the New Hampshire Democratic platform, and we presume it will be the ground occupied by the Democracy in nearly all the States for this year's elections.

The Republicans of New Hampshire have declared their hearty approval of General Grant's administration. They congratulate the country on the reduction of the debt, they denounce the currency device of the Democrats for paying the debt as a form of repudiation, they advocate the taxing of luxuries and the abolition of the franking privilege, they endorse the second reconstruction of Georgia, they denounce the action of the Democratic Legislature of New York upon the fifteenth amendment as a blow aimed at universal suffrage, they harp upon the participation of the Democracy in the rebellion, they hail the revival of temperance in the State, and they declare that railroad and other corporations should be managed in the interest of the public as well as in the interest of the stockholders

The Indiana Democracy, with a somewhat stronger Democratic accent on national banks bondsand greenbacks, held their State convention and declared their principles on "the glorious 8th of January" and they stick to the text of General Wade Hampton and General Frank Blair of 1868 in denouncing the infamous and revolutionary character of the reconstruction measures of Congress, as an invasion of the sovereign and sacred rights of the people and all the States"

The sovereign rights of the States? Why, that carries us back again to the secession of South Carolina and to Buchanan's opinion that the United States has no power to coerce a seceding State

The general issues here presented upon which the Republicans will fight through the country, are those which mark the policy of Congress and of Grant's administration [illegible] for they now have both Congress and the administration to back them For the last five years of Andy Johnson's administration they had to fight the President and the Democracy. At last with the acquisition of Grant in the place of Johnson, the party in power is strongly entrenched The Democracy therefore will have uphill work in their efforts to turn the tables upon their adversaries in this year's elections for the next Congress

"Some of the Issues of 1870"

FINANCES OF THE COUNTRY

"Without presuming to advise the State Convention as to what it shall put in or leave out of its platform we have no hesitation in declaring that it should exercise care to put itself in unison with the great mass of the party of the United States, to appreciate the present situation and to give expression to the clearly defined Republican views upon the great issues now before the country

The rebellion has left us a great debt What to do with it is the present and prospective question. It must be paid, but how and when are questions that concern all of us Do we want to pay it during the next ten, twenty or fifty years? Rapid payment will involve heavy taxation But the people demand that the taxes shall be made lighter if possible and we are among those who believe it possible"—OREGONIAN

EDITOR OREGONIAN

The article in your Weekly edition, from which I extract the above paragraphs, has touched the spot in me, and I beg leave to coincide with the views therein expressed Slavery and its kindred topics having been taken out of politics by the Constitutional Amendment, etc, it is now in order to consider the commercial questions which have been so long in abeyance For full fifteen years preceding the outbreak of the war the old Whig doctrines respecting the currency and trade of the country were regarded as obsolete But repudiated Whigism has stolen back under cover of the war it has vaulted into the saddle of authority and is quite sanguine of its firm seat there An inflated currency and high tariff is backed by the justification of necessities created by the national debt So long as the manufacturers are protected, and dealers in Government paper grow rich by their operations, little difference does it make to them by what particular line of reasoning or sophistry the goose is persuaded to be plucked for feathering their nests Nor, on the other hand, does it alleviate the sufferings of the people that the system by which they are fleeced is supported by new arguments When they see in operation a system by which they are every day growing poorer, and the manufacturers and paper money dealers richer, no declamation about the national debt will prevent their inquiring whether this system of inequality and injustice is necessary

The national debt cannot be honestly shirked, I would vote to hang every repudiator, but there can be no good excuse for meeting its burdens by a system of currency and taxation which distributes things so unevenly as to enrich one part of the community at the expense of the other The laboring population are bound to pay their equitable share of the debt This they will never be found to shirk from, but they will not willingly submit to pay a heavy annual bonus to the favored and protected classes—and in this I agree with you entirely, that "the people demand that the taxes shall be made lighter, if possible, and we are among those who believe it possible"

Now that the smoke of the late distracted controversy has cleared away, and we are breaking upon the dawn of new issues, this subject will necessarily have to be discussed by us in the coming campaign in Oregon—and it will have to be an intelligent discussion. The majority of the people will not consent to any other Their legitimate burdens are already so great that they wish to tolerate no unnecessary addition to them—hence it is desired that the approaching Convention shall take heed to your remarks upon this subject.

"But how," it may be asked, "can the Convention about to assemble adopt any measure looking to a relaxation in this direction, and make it consistent with the obligations created by our heavy national debt?" Before answering which, by any specific statements, I would reply to the query in the same way in which it is put—in a lump. That there is no arguing against a fact; and I would call attention to the well-known conspicuous, and in its bearings on this argument, overwhelming fact that the British Government, of all existing governments, the one which is most deeply in debt, is also, of all existing governments, the one which is most fully committed to the wise economy of the labor of her own people, in leaving industry to follow its natural bent to the most productive and remunerative pursuits it is by erecting no legislative dykes to divert capital into one channel rather than another, trusting to the sure instincts of avarice to find that those which are the most profitable; she aids private interest and enterprise to accumulate wealth; and from the wealth so accumulated, she levies contributions in the forms which she finds most convenient for collection. The consequence is, that much of the burden of her debt is shifted upon the nations with whom she trades—one chief among which is the United States. By her immense commerce, built up as we should build ours, she lays the whole world under contribution.

Let our government, let our great influential National Republican party advocate and adopt the same enlightened policy. Our continent is by no means inferior in mechanical ingenuity, commercial aptitude, or maritime enterprise—is it? Are not our geographical advantages every way superior to hers? Do we not look out upon both oceans? Are the West Indies not within a day's sail of our territory? and can we not reach the East Indies by sailing in a direct line from our Pacific ports? With all these advantages over the country which bears to day the heaviest burdens of a public debt—what is it that we want to enable us to acquire rather than lose American prestige, both upon land and sea?—nothing I would answer—but a system of taxation and currency, such as shall encourage the masses of our population, and at the same time render certain the final extinction of the public debt. And with you, Mr. Editor, I agree that we have had "political essays" enough for all practical purposes, in our party platforms, let us now have something in relation to our present wants—and were I a member of that convention I should esteem it a pleasure, precedent to nomination for any office, to pledge my party to such issues as shall relieve to the utmost, our domestic industries and the bone and sinew of our country.

Yours very truly, INCOG

An American lady—a Protestant—desired the blessing of Pius IX upon an armful of beads. "Is that all?" patiently asked the Pope. "Holy Father, your photograph" "Here it is anything more?" 'Autograph, if you please, upon the carte de visite." The Pope hesitated a little, but signed nevertheless. "Now is there any other favor you were going to ask?" "Oh, Holy Father, give me if you will the pen with which you wrote your name" This was too much even for the Pope's good nature, and he said, "Yes, take it Carry away the penholder too Here, take the inkstand!" The American cooly rolled all the articles up in an old newspaper, carefully placed them in her carpet bag, and departed with a sweet smile and a reverence to the Pope "What a great people, nevertheless!" exclaims the Figaro.

M. Olivier is thought to have deceived the people of Paris who originally elected him as a republican, and his old supporters declare that they would not be greatly surprised if he were found some day counselling a coup d'etat On the other hand, his friends among the liberals enlarge upon his supposed antipathy to the pretensions of Rome, and his enlightened views as to municipal government and free education M Ollivier has, for one thing, lived all his life a literary atmosphere. He was Lamartine's intimate friend; he is the son in-law of Liszt, and the correspondent of Richard Wagner. In private life he is free from reproach, and may with his young wife (he married a few months ago a second time) be a beneficial example

A NEW PAPER.—The Catholic Sentinel, a weekly newspaper published in this city by Messrs. Fitzgerald & Atkinson, and edited by Mr. H. L. Herman, makes its first appearance this morning. It is about the size of the DAILY OREGONIAN and in typographical execution is a very neat specimen of the art. The editor promises to uphold and defend the faith of his church to the best of his ability, but says his paper will also contain the latest and most important foreign and domestic news, besides correct financial and commercial reports. We welcome the Sentinel to the ranks of public journalism, and wish it success.

THE THEATER.—Last night the house was crowded full, every seat and all the standing room being occupied. Joe Murphy, in fact, had as much of a benefit as he could have had unless he put it in a larger building. And a more highly amused crowd we never witnessed. Perfectly deafening applause frequently greeted the inimitable impersonations of the Irishman, the Chinaman and the African by Joe. He'll do in the "show business." The Matinee this afternoon, and the evening entertainment promise a rare occasion for laughing off "dull care," to those who attend.

RE-APPEARANCE OF MRS. BATES.—The engagement of Joe Murphy, at Oro Fino will close with the present week, and then Mrs. Bates will appear in a succession of her great characters. Mr. Murphy's engagement has been a very successful one, but we are of the opinion that the people, having had a good, hearty, long laugh at his eccentricities, will very gladly welcome a season of legitimate drama; and no one with whom we are acquainted could more certainly look for a generous welcome than can Mrs. Bates and the legitimate dramatic company who will appear with her.

ELECTION.—The following officers of Newellsville Lodge of Good Templars have been elected for the current term. W. C. T., G. B. Eberhard, W. R. H. S., Mrs. J. Jones; W. L. H. S., Mrs Eberhard; W. V. T., Mrs. M. Spencer; W. S., J. B. Jones; W. A. S., Miss Mary Jones, W. T., William Lichtenthaler; W. F. S., Miss Ellen Eberhard; W. M., S. N. Jones; W. D. M., Miss Louisa J. Spencer; W. Chap., J. G. Eberhard; W. I. G., John Spencer; W. O. G., H. L. Eberhard.

NEW FIRM—FINE GOODS.—Among the most reliable firms in Portland heretofore has been that of Jackson, Sanderson & Co. Mr. Sanderson has now sold out to W. Jackson & Co., and we doubt not that the same patrons and all others will find the new firm ready to treat customers in that way which will sustain the reputation of the house for fair dealing and moderate prices. Their stock embraces the finest and largest variety of goods in the crockery line.

CRYSTAL LODGE.—This Lodge of Good Templars has installed the following persons as officers for the current term W. C. T., Thomas Johnston, R. S., Ada Carr, L. S., M. A. Winnie, W. V. T., Mrs G. Kellogg W. S., C. Solomon, W. A. S., Annie Hayden; W. F., S. Tiermann, W. T., Emma Hayden, W. M., J. Friese, W. D. M., Lizzie Friese, W. I. G., Fannie Vollum W. O. G., J. Ormsby, W. Chap., G. W. Vollum, P. W. C. T., R. Martin.

OBSEQUIES.—The "Obsequies of Spiritualism" is the subject announced for a lecture to be delivered by Mrs. Martin at Harmony Hall on to-morrow, Sunday, evening at half past seven o'clock. Obsequies means funeral rites, so we suppose that Arnoup's "rope" of argument have had the effect to prepare the institution for burial. The lecture will be free to all, and everybody is invited.

ERROR.—A provoking error of the types occurred in the correspondence concerning the estimated value of the property in our city. The figures representing the assessed value of all property and those representing the actual value were transposed, and a figure nine crept into the last total, making the estimated gold value $90 too much.

ANNUAL MEETING.—The annual meeting of the Portland Library Association will take place at the rooms of the Association. As an election of officers is to take place and some important amendments to the Constitution to be acted upon, it is very desirable that the members all be present to-day

MEETING.—A meeting of the Fenian Brotherhood will be held at the Armory of the Emmet Guard to-day at 2 P. M. As preparations are to be made for a grand celebration of St. Patrick's Day, a full attendance of the members is earnestly requested

PRODUCTS.—Fully five thousand bushels of wheat more than three thousand sacks of flour and nearly one thousand boxes of apples were received by the boats of the People's Transportation Company from the upper Wallamet, yesterday.

HELD TO ANSWER.—G. Green was yesterday held to answer to the Grand Jury of Multnomah county, upon a charge of threatening to kill Mrs. Decker. His bonds were fixed at $500, which were readily given

TO-DAY.—The steamer Ajax will sail hence for San Francisco to-day at 4 o'clock P. M. Her cargo, which is mostly received, will be very large

SAILED.—The telegraph reports the sailing of the bark Almatia from San Francisco for Portland on last Thursday

WILL CLOSE.—The mail per steamer Ajax will close to-day at fifteen minutes after three o'clock

FOREIGN NOTES—BY MAIL

The condition of the farm laborer and peasant in some of the large countries on the European Continent does not come very favorably out of inspection. An able agriculturist, who has recently visited the principal districts, gives an unflattering report. In France he found the average wages about a franc a day. The team men sleep with the cattle, two in a bed, or rather two in a box on a sack of straw, a rude floor being put up at one end of the shede. The hours in summer were from 4 A. M. to 8 P. M., and till noon on Sundays. This was in Touraine, one of the most favored regions of France. In Prussia, the men also sleep in the stable with their bullocks and horses, and the wages are less than in France. The weight of superincumbent mortgages is the load which depresses French agriculture, which exacts from it cries of distress and extorts from the French government successive commissions of inquiry. The one ambition of the French peasant is to buy more land. He will live for years on the barest and hardest fare which will support life, and then draw from the ground hoards of coin for the acquisition of more acres. So keen is this passion that he will mortgage deeply what he has, to obtain more; and at this moment a very large portion of French land belongs to mortgagies who dwell in towns.

In France the ministers reside in the official hotel. The saloons are elegant, there is no rent to pay; the park is shady. Wife and children,—sometimes nephews and nieces,—make their nest here. It is hard to move, especially in winter time. The Constitutionnel says that the Duke de Morny once refused the ministry of the interior because he had just installed a handsome Chinese collection in the hotel of the Presidency of the Corps Legislatif, and if he removed his treasures and vases might suffer. M. Rouher found the Palace of the Louvre so suitable that he did not leave it for three years. The retiring minister occasionally has no private apartment in the city, and the new occupant arrives before the old one has gone. The first takes possession of the ground floor, and the other hides away in the attics. To prevent such embarrassments, our Paris contemporary urges that ministers reside in their private dwellings. They may enjoy themselves, it says, somewhat less than their predecessors, but they will have the advantage of not complicating themselves with the sweets of a commodious life and of only taking with power the obligations which it imposes. They will thus escape from the reproach of loving it too much and from the suspicion of not wishing to lose it. As simple travelers, when public opinion gives the signal of departure they will betake themselves on their way and suffer nothing in their dignity. We do not see that this thoughtful consideration has been appreciated by the dignitaries whom it concerns; but men in power are proverbially dull.

French journalism leaps and bounds in its new found liberty. But the long worn fetters have embittered it, and the political contention going on is hot with passion and personality. Some one has taken the trouble to pick out instances of the way in which actors, candidates, speakers and writers are posed for their portraits. Thus Milliere is described as one who acts like a drunken man—on water; Lefrangais as an ambigu-comique Marat who wears all his beard, while Amoroux is a little, pale, sententious Gavroche, with the voice of an old woman. Maurice Joly is a man who is trying to build himself a pedestal with the stones that are thrown into his garden. Carnot, in the electoral harlequinade, represents dignity, and is an eloquent representative of silence. Pouyer Quertier is a gargantuan orator—nothing is more surprising than Pouyer speaking—except Pouyer breakfasting! He used to drink three bottles of choice Bordeaux every evening at the Cafe d'Orsay. Jules Allix is accused of having been converted by Glais-Bizoin's kitchen rather than by his arguments. Gaillard, the younger, is so soft and sweet that he would not kill his fleas—if he had any—a point on which the writer confesses his ignorance. Gaillard, junior, is, however, furious when he remembers that he has been baptised. Raspail, a brilliant solitary man, lives on the summit of the mountain and is afraid that his shadow is in the pay of police. Lissagaray has a nut cracker temperament, and his eloquence sounds like window-breaking. In short, a large part of French journalism consists just now of invective.

Last month the Viceroy of Egypt gave audience to two newspaper special correspondents, Mr. J. C. Parkinson of the London Daily News, and Mr. E. Dicey of the Daily Telegraph, and to these two gentlemen he freely unbosomed himself as to his differences with Turkey. He was "interviewed," in fact, and this apparently by his own request and arrangement. A curious novelty in Eastern affairs? The burden of the Khedive's representations was that in Egypt the religious fanaticism of the Moslem population—the one formidable obstacle to progress—has been overcome, that in canals, railways, roads, military reform schools, &c., Egypt has always led the way, while to Sultans it is fundamentally impossible through their training and position to fuse Islam with modern civilization. The defects of the Turkish administration were specified as freely as though the speaker were a Russian minister of foreign affairs. The viceroy, it appears, put the strangers quite at their ease, keeping no officials in the room. He asked them to be seated, and began the conversation forthwith. "Anything less Oriental," says one of the correspondents, "according to conventional ideas of Orientalism, than the shrewd and courtly gentleman in a black surtout, who welcomes foreigners in a modern European drawing-room by a cordial shake of the hand, and whose sense of humor is as obvious as his knowledge of the world, it would be difficult to imagine. There were maps and papers on a table, which gave the handsome chamber a half business air, and an interview with the urbane and able chief of some great administrative department at home is what an interview with the courteous Pharaoh of to-day resembles most."

REMOVAL.—J. W. Campbell has removed his new Patent Bed Bottom manufactory to Messrs. Jensen & Rethlefsen's Cabinet and Carpenter shop, southeast corner of Morrison and First streets. Although but recently introduced, the Minnesota Bed Bottom is fast coming into general use and is giving general satisfaction. Come and see it. j29dlm

The Great Medical Mistake

Of former days was an utter neglect of sanitary precautions. No efficient means were adopted for the prevention of sickness. Sewerage was unknown in cities, drainage was rarely attempted in the country. Heaps of offal were left to rot in the public streets, and domestic cleanliness, the great antidote to febrile diseases, was sadly neglected. It is not so now. Wise laws, philanthropic institutions and a vigilant sanitary police have to a great extent remedied the evil. Nor is this all. PREVENTIVE MEDICATION has helped materially to lessen the rates of mortality. It is not too much to say that TENS OF THOUSANDS escape sickness in unhealthy seasons in consequence of having INVIGORATED THEIR SYSTEMS IN ADVANCE by a course of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. This pure and powerful vegetable tonic and alterative comprises the extracts and essences of a variety of roots and herbs, renowned for their strengthening, soothing, vitalizing and purifying properties. These medicinal agents are incorporated with a spirit absolutely free from the acrid poison which defiles, more or less, all the liquors of commerce, and their effect is diffused through the whole frame by this active, yet harmless stimulant. The result is such a condition of the system as renders it all but impervious to the exterior causes of disease, such as damp, fog, sudden alternations of temperature, &c. Strength, and the perfect regularity of all the functions of the body, are the best safeguards against atmospheric poison and the effects of unwholesome water, and HOSTETTER'S BITTERS are the best strengthening and regulating medicine at present known. For dyspepsia and billiousness they are a SPECIFIC ABSOLUTE.

What the Hon W T Ballou says about the King of Pain

SAN FRANCISCO Dec 7 1869

Dr J J McBride—Having suffered with sciatic rheumatism some months, I was induced to use your "King of Pain." I take pleasure in recommending it to those afflicted with rheumatism. I know of several cases of neuralgia that have been cured by using it

W T BALLOU of Elko, Nevada,

Card from Harbor Master

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 2, 1869.

To Dr McBride—This is to certify that I have been troubled with neuralgia in my right arm and hand for the past three months, and although I have had medical advice, and tried a number of remedies, none has relieved me until I tried Dr McBride's "King of Pain," which has done me more good than all the other remedies I have tried. DR. J. J. M'BRIDE,

TELLS YOUR DISEASE WITHOUT ASKING ANY QUESTIONS!

A CARD.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct 16, 1869.

DR. McBRIDE—My Dear Sir For the last six or seven years I have been afflicted with rheumatic pains, from my knees down, embracing all the joints of ankle and toes. These pains have come upon me periodically every year, about this season of the year. My knees and ankles, and toe joints, and my wrists and finger joints would swell and leave me in the most agonizing pain, known only to those who have suffered from this dread malady. These pains would continue for a period of from three to four months every year, and they have been regular, unfailing annual visitors. I have been accustomed to apply for relief to the best citizens of San Francisco, and have not failed to use all the popular remedies known to the public. I would sometimes receive temporary relief, after long continued application, but it would never fail to return in a few days with increased severity.

About two weeks ago, while my pains were upon me, I saw you at the corner of one of our streets, and heard what you said about your "King of Pain." I confess that I listened to you with deep distrust, indeed, I may say that I did not believe your statements. "Still," thought I, "it's only a dollar, and I'll patronize the 'humbug one dollar's worth.'" I bought a bottle and tried it first on my knee, which was fearfully swolen, and from which I suffered very severely. The second night I tried it again, and my dear Doctor, you can judge of my surprise, ecstacy and delight, altogether when I found on rising the second morning, that my pains were entirely gone, and the swelling entirely disappeared. My knee joints were as suple as when I was young. I actually danced with delight, much to the amusement of my friends, who had been in the habit of regarding me as a decrepid old rheumatic. It has now been two weeks, and I have not felt the least symptom of return. I believe I am cured and I feel so grateful to you that I offer you this statement, verified by my oath, to be used by you in whatever way you may think proper, and I feel it a duty to let others similarly afflicted know where they can find relief

I am, yours, very truly, RAPHAEL LOOKAYSE

State of California, city and county of San Francisco. On this 16th day of October, 1869 personally appeared before me, a Justice of the Peace in and for the city and county of San Francisco aforesaid, Raphael Lookayse, known to me to be the person who signed the foregoing letter, and who being by me duly sworn, deposes and says the contents thereof are true

T W TALIAFERRO, Justice of the Peace

TO THE PUBLIC.

Grateful for the eminent service of Dr. J. J. McBride I cheerfully make a statement of the following facts. For twelve months I had suffered from prostration of my nervous system, resulting in partial paralysis and almost total loss of sight. A score of physicians had abandoned my case as hopelessly incurable, I had even heard my days numbered by doctors and friends. In the agonies of my neuralgic pain, I sought the great King of Pain. Under that benign influence, in one-half hour I had obtained more medical aid than I had known for long weary months. My sight was so much restored that I could read print, although I had needed a guide to find Dr. McBride's office an hour before. Before leaving him I had regained the use of my arm and palsied limbs, and seemingly my strength had returned, while all those aches and pains, my constant companions were dissipated and gone. It is now ten days since I undertook treatment with Dr. McBride, and I can say unhesitatingly that I am restored as I could not have expected to have been in so little time. My eyesight is most perfectly regained, my whole physical system corrected and in undoubted health

My residence is in Reading. I do business at No. 6½ Cambridge street, in this city, where I will willingly vouch in person for the truth of the foregoing to any one interested

Something More to be Done

[illegible] efforts of the Immigrant Aid [illegible] and the newspapers of Oregon [illegible] advertise our State in the East are likely [illegible] quite successful [illegible] than we had [illegible] on things [illegible] ges clippings from the publications [illegible] art of Statistics [illegible] state giving information [illegible] as are usually most important and interesting to people contemplating removal [illegible] West In a late number of a New York [illegible] for instance we find taken from the [illegible] GONIAN a table of wages which we [illegible] ago published as prepared by Secretary [illegible] ke This information will go into the [illegible] s of thousands of laborers by means [illegible] e of this publication in New York and [illegible] he time it has been copied into a hundred [illegible] papers who can calculate the effect it [illegible] have in directing the surplus laborers of [illegible] East toward our State? But this item [illegible] s not go alone. We have found within [illegible] last few weeks a considerable number of [illegible] ms republished from Oregon papers show [illegible] the price of lands the productiveness of our [illegible], the chances for profitable investment in [illegible] ous enterprises the mildness and health [illegible] ness of our climate etc It might have [illegible] med trivial to many of our people that at [illegible] e time, we mentioned the fact that a floral [illegible] quet of a dozen or more varieties, was [illegible] hered from an open garden in January at [illegible] other time that green peas were gathered [illegible] December etc But these items are going [illegible] rounds of the Eastern press, and will do [illegible] re to attract attention to our extraordinary [illegible] mate than all the pamphlets published on [illegible] st and other Oregon subjects Newspapers [illegible] l publish paragraphs by the dozen when [illegible] ey would altogether decline long articles [illegible] ms, item by item the matters which con[illegible] rn us to have published in the East are [illegible] ng laid before the public—seeds cast by [illegible] e wayside, to spring up and bear us fruits [illegible] immigration

It is clear that we are now becoming better [illegible] vertised and better known than ever before [illegible] which, thanks to the Board of Statistics and [illegible] e newspapers which have so cheerfully lent [illegible] eir assistance And now there are some [illegible] ings yet to be done, the importance of [illegible] hich is not second to that already done [illegible] ransportation has been reduced to actual [illegible] mmigrants, by the Pacific Railroad the Hol[illegible] day steamships, and the O S N Co s line [illegible] f travel, but there needs to be a still further [illegible] eduction on all these lines The cost of [illegible] ravel to immigrants should be made as light [illegible] s possible not above the actual expenses [illegible] ncurred in furnishing transportation. No one [illegible] f the lines mentioned would be loser a single [illegible] ent, but rather the gainer in the long run, [illegible] y making such reductions They would very [illegible] oon regain the bated profits through the de[illegible] elopment of the country and the increase of [illegible] usiness. The Board of Statistics, as the ex[illegible] ecutive committee for the people, must act as [illegible] he managing agent in this business It [illegible] ught not to be backward in asking the largest [illegible] avors for the immigrants It should make [illegible] pplication to all the transportation lines for [illegible] urther and the utmost possible reductions [illegible] n fare and [illegible] freight Having secured [illegible] what it can in this behalf, it should appoint [illegible] n agent at Omaha whose business it shall [illegible] e to look after the immigrants for Oregon and [illegible] o "check" them through with certificates [illegible] o the effect that they are bona fide immigrants [illegible] emoving to Oregon to reside. This is nec[illegible] essary to prevent imposition upon the trans[illegible] portation lines by tramping bummers, and on [illegible] he other hand to prevent hardships being [illegible] aid upon real emigrants, who might other[illegible] wise be mistaken for mere travelers and be [illegible] harged the traveling rates of fare

The Board of Statistics ought, it possible [illegible] and all things are possible to earnest ener[illegible] gy—to raise funds to be applied for the relief [illegible] of immigrants who may arrive in destitute or [illegible] unfortunate circumstances, to forward them [illegible] o points where they may find the means of [illegible] upport, to assist them in getting work or in [illegible] inding shelter, or in learning where and how [illegible] o buy farms and generally to lend a help[illegible] ng hand wherever actual need or merit may [illegible] all for it. It could hardly be claimed as fair [illegible] r just conduct, if we should induce people [illegible] o come here and then leave them utterly to [illegible] heir own resources after arrival

What we have suggested is probably as [illegible] much as can reasonably be expected of the [illegible] Board of Statistics for the coming season [illegible] But to do this, even, will require an earnest [illegible] effort on the part of the Board and a cheer[illegible] ful, generous co operation on the part of the [illegible] people. There must be no shirking of our [illegible] responsibilities. Those who are to be bene[illegible] fitted by peopling our State must consider [illegible] that the Board cannot do its work without [illegible] money Let the business men of Oregon go [illegible] down into their pockets and produce the [illegible] unds The immigrant harvest will be ample [illegible] enough to repay over and over again, all the [illegible] expenditures

Oregon Iron Mines—What Might Have Been and What May Be

The Stockton Republican alluding to the inexhaustible iron resources of Oregon mentions the Oswego mine in particular and says "One half of one quarter per cent on the money California has paid in duty and freight on railroad iron imported from Europe and shipped from the east would have erected works at this point which would have turned out a superior quality of T rail in sufficient quantity to iron all the railroads on the Pacific coast. We do not doubt but this might have been done nor that if it had been done, the railroad companies would have procured a quality of rail whose endurance would have more than compensated for the extra cost if any The Oswego iron is distinguished for its toughness a very essential quality in railroad iron and it has been said that the quality is too good to make it profitable to work it into rails This objection vanishes, however, before the fact that there is enough of it to make all the rails the Pacific coast could ever want, besides supplying all the extra quality iron which could be wanted for other purposes It is not too late to put in practice what is suggested by the Stockton paper Railroading on the Pacific coast is yet in its infancy Scarcely a tithe of the iron has yet been used that is to be the grand aggregate laid down in this and the next decades If San Francisco can make rails after transporting the raw material long sea voyages what could hinder the success of works at this mine where the ore is just at hand and where the rails could be passed from the rolling mills on the bank to the transporting vessels in the stream This is a proposition worthy the attention of the railroad capitalists

Fechter is said to be rather angry He writes half a dozen notes of complaint to the managers daily

Editorial Notes

We find that [illegible] which [illegible] in Brigham [illegible] of the highest [illegible] seen west of the Rocky Mountains We remember how years ago the emigrants used to repeat [illegible] when getting a full snuff from some of Utah's sulphur springs [illegible] now Won't there be some tall old profanity and reverend [illegible] and ground and lofty tumbling by the entire strength of the troop

The people of Idaho appear to be vastly excited about the proposition contained in Senator Stewart's bill to lop a portion of the Territory and give it to Nevada Two or three public meetings have been held to protest against the consummation of the measure On the 26th ult at such a meeting at Boise City resolutions were formally adopted reciting that the proposed cession would rob Idaho of her richest mines and a large portion of her best agricultural lands that the division would do injustice to the people cut off as well as to those remaining that it is against the wishes of all the people that it would seriously impair the credit of the Territory by diminishing both population and domain that the division geographically would be unnatural etc The Delegate in Congress was instructed to strenuously oppose the division A formal remonstrance to be forwarded to Congress was agreed upon

As an illustration of how the introduction of capital helps the consumer to a cheaper living, we may mention the case of the two admantine candle manufactories started at San Francisco in 1868 For five years previous to that time candles had ruled from 20 to 24 cts The establishment of the factories begot a competition which brought candles down to 15 and 17 cents making them at least twenty five per cent cheaper to the consumer The same cause raised the price of tallow in still greater proportion, thus benefitting the laborers and producers doubly And the factories not only made a prime article of consumption cheaper, but they gave employment to a considerable number of people This is a simple illustration, but it shows how capital and labor naturally go hand in hand, and how it is the interest of labor to encourage rather than to quarrel with capital as our Democratic demogogues advise

A correspondent at Walla Walla furnishes us some political information—matters and things current in the eastern part of the Territory It appears pretty plain that J D Mix, of Walla Walla, is the choice of the Democracy for candidate for Congress. Newell got badly used up last year when he undertook to debate with Garfielde and he don't want any more of it in [illegible] La sater, popularly known as "Advalorem" has withdrawn from the field, having, discovered that his calibre is too small, and that the affection of the masses for him, is not of the most remarkable sort It has not been discovered yet what particular hobby, Mix will attempt to ride. He is said, however, to be an adept at riding double, and it is expected he will be on both sides of any issue that may be raised Our correspondent concludes "Ex-Governor Moore was the most popular man the Democrats have had since General Stevens' time No man they can nominate this side of the mountains, can make the run that Governor Moore made The best man they could put up, and the most able man they have in their ranks, is N T Caton, Esq The claims of Hon F P Dugan seem to be ignored entirely His name is not mentioned in this connection W H Newell lays no claim to the Delegateship He says that during the sittings of the late legislature he killed (politically I mean) Lassater, and the latter says he killed Newell, so we may conclude they are both dead As it is none of our funeral we need not complain but we can look on the wreck with cool indifference and wish them a good time over their future prospects

[From the N Y Herald]

Both parties in New Hampshire have declared their platforms for 1870 The Democrats leading off express their faith in their abiding party principles they oppose centralization and stick to State rights they denounce the action of Congress in relation to Georgia they protest against the burdens of the Internal Revenue and Tariff laws, they denounce monopolies they go for taxing all contracts, bonds and securities, national bonds and securities with the rest and they go for paying the national debt not otherwise specified in currency This is the New Hampshire Democratic platform and we presume it will be the ground occupied by the Democracy in nearly all the States for this year's elections

The Republicans of New Hampshire have declared their hearty approval of General Grant's administration They congratulate the country on the reduction of the debt, they denounce the currency device of the Democrats for paying the debt as a form of repudiation they advocate the taxing of luxuries and the abolition of the franking privilege they endorse the second reconstruction of Georgia they denounce the action of the Democratic Legislature of New York upon the fifteenth amendment as a blow aimed at universal suffrage; they harp upon the participation of the Democracy in the rebellion they hail the revival of temperance in the State and they declare that railroad and other corporations should be managed in the interest of the public as well as in the interest of the stockholders

The Indiana Democracy with a somewhat stronger Democratic account on national banks bonds and greenbacks hold their State convention and declare [illegible] principles on the glorious 8th of January and they stick to the text of General Wade Hampton and General Frank Blair of 1868 in denouncing the infamous and revolutionary character of the reconstruction measures of Congress as an invasion of the sovereign and sacred rights of the people and all the States

The strong [illegible] rights of the States? Why that carries us back again to the secession of South Carolina and [illegible] that the [illegible] to a seceding State

[illegible] the Republicans will fight through the country [illegible] of Congress and [illegible] the Democracy [illegible] the next Congress

[illegible] Hank Fr[illegible] of the following [illegible] well known [illegible] Oregon [illegible] Department

Lieut [illegible] formerly [illegible] at Camp [illegible] and one of our best Indian fighters has been heard from by [illegible] letter Receiving no appointment in the regular army he was made captain of General Sheridan's body guard in the Indian war in the plains in which capacity he served until the close of hostilities and is now Quartermaster in Western Texas Hank T [illegible]

The silver mine lately discovered at Florence Arizona is creating much excitement in the Territory The ledge has been traced several miles, and is very rich

Some of the Issues of 1870

[illegible] we [illegible] regard to what [illegible] a platform we [illegible] that it should exercise [illegible] the great masses [illegible] the party [illegible] United States to appreciate the [illegible] to give expression [illegible] views upon the great [illegible] is now before the country

[illegible] a great debt What [illegible] twenty or fifty years? [illegible] heavy taxation [illegible] that taxes shall be [illegible] we are among those who believe it possible — OREGONIAN

[illegible] article in your Weekly edition from which I [illegible] the above paragraph has been [illegible] and I beg leave to coincide with the views therein expressed Slavery and its kindred topics having been taken out of politics by the Constitutional Amendment etc It is [illegible] order [illegible] consider the commercial questions which have been so long in abeyance For full fifteen years preceding the outbreak of the war the old Whig doctrines respecting the currency and tariff of the country were regarded as obsolete But repudiated Whigism has stolen back under cover of the war it has vaulted into the saddle of authority and is quite sanguine of its firm seat there An inflated currency and high tariff is backed by the justification of necessities created by the national debt So long as the manufacturers are protected and dealers in Government paper grow rich by their operations little difference does it make to them by what particular line of reasoning or sophistry the goose is persuaded to be plucked in feathering their nests Nor on the other hand does it alleviate the sufferings of the people that the system by which they are fleeced is supported by new arguments When they see in operation a system by which they are every day growing poorer and the manufacturers and paper money dealers richer no declamation about the nation al debt will prevent their inquiring whether this system of inequality and injustice is necessary

The national debt cannot be honestly shirked; I would vote to hang every repudiator but there can be no good excuse for meeting its burdens by a system of currency and taxation which distributes things so unevenly as to enrich one part of the community at the expense of the other The laboring population are bound to pay their equitable share of the debt This they will never be found to shirk from but they will not willingly submit to pay a heavy annual bonus to the favored and protected classes—and in this I agree with you entirely that "the people demand that the taxes shall be made lighter, if possible, and we are among those who believe it possible

Now that the smoke of the late distracted controversy has cleared away, and we are breaking upon the dawn of new issues this subject will necessarily have to be discussed by us in the coming campaign in Oregon—and it will have to be an intelligent discussion The majority of the people will not consent to any other Their legitimate burdens are already so great that they wish to tolerate no unnecessary addition to them—hence it is desired that the approaching Convention shall take heed to your remarks upon this subject

But how, it may be asked can the Convention about to assemble adopt any measure looking to a relaxation in this direction, and make it consistent with the obligations created by our heavy national debt? Before answering which, by any specific statements, I would reply to the query in the same way in which it is put—in a lump That there is no arguing against a fact, and I would call attention to the well known conspicuous, and in its bearings on this argument, overwhelming fact that the British Government, of all existing governments, the one which is most deeply in debt, is also, of all existing governments, the one which is most fully committed to the wise economy of the labor of her own people, in leaving industry to follow its natural bent to the most productive and remunerative pursuits it is by erecting no legislative dykes to divert capital into one channel rather than another, trusting to the sure instincts of avarice to find that those which are the most profitable, she aids private interest and enterprise to accumulate wealth; and from the wealth so accumulated, she levies contributions in the forms which she finds most convenient for collection The consequence is, that much of the burden of her debt is shifted upon the nations with whom she [illegible] one chief among which is the United States By her immense commerce, built up as we should build ours, she lays the whole world under contribution

Let our government, let our great influential National Republican party advocate and adopt the same enlightened policy Our continent is by no means inferior in mechanical ingenuity, commercial aptitude or maritime enterprise is it? Are not our geographical advantages every way superior to hers? Do we not look out upon both oceans? Are the West Indies not within a day's sail of our territory? and can we not reach the East Indies by sailing in a direct line from our Pacific ports? With all these advantages over the country which bears to day the heaviest burdens of a public debt—what is it that we want to enable us to acquire rather than lose American prestige both upon land and sea?—nothing I would answer—but a system of taxation and currency such as shall encourage the masses of our population, and at the same time render certain the final extinction of the public debt And with you Mr Editor I agree that we have had political essays enough for all practical purposes in our party platforms, let us now have something in relation to our present wants—and were I a member of that convention I should esteem it a pleasure, precedent to nomination for any office to pledge my party to such issues as shall relieve to the utmost, our domestic industries and the bone and sinew of our country

The New Northwest estimates that the Democratic Legislature has increased the debt of the Territory $40 000

Brevt Major General James A Hardie Inspector General on General Sheridan's staff has arrived to investigate Indian affairs

The following is from the same paper of the 20th

The [illegible] Legislature has adjourned

The Governor has announced a fresh lot of nominations to various Territorial offices, and the unpleasantness goes on

The thermometer at 7 o'clock A M on the 19th was 30 degrees below zero The coldest weather experienced in Montana since the winter of '66 7

A band of the Northern Peigans recently attacked a party of hunters near Eagle creek and succeeded in capturing most of their stock and provisions

An American lady—a Protestant—desired the blessing of Pius IX upon an armful of beads

"Is that all?" patiently asked the Pope "Holy Father your photograph" "Here it is any thing more?" "Autograph, if you please upon the carte de visite." The Pope hesitated a little, but signed nevertheless "Now is there any other favor you were going to ask?" "Oh Holy Father, give me if you will the pen with which you wrote your name" This was too much even for the Pope's good nature, and he said, "Yes, take it Carry away the penholder too Here take the inkstand!" The American cooly rolled all the articles up in an old newspaper carefully placed them in her carpet bag and departed with a sweet smile and a reverence to the Pope "What a great people, nevertheless!" exclaims the Figaro

M Ollivier is thought to have deceived the people of Paris who originally elected him as a republican and his old supporters declare that they would not be greatly surprised if he were found some day counselling a coup d'etat On the other hand, his friends among the liberals enlarge upon his supposed antipathy to the pretensions of Rome, and his enlightened views as to municipal government and free education M Ollivier has for one thing, lived all his life a literary atmosphere He was Lamartine's intimate friend he is the son in-law of Liszt, and the correspondent of Richard Wagner In private life he is free from reproach and may with his young wife (he married a few months ago a second time) be a beneficial example

A NEW PAPER.—The Catholic Sentinel, a weekly newspaper published in this city by Messrs. Herman & Atkinson, and edited by Mr. H. L. Herman, makes its first appearance this morning. It is about the size of the DAILY OREGONIAN and in typographical execution is a very neat specimen of the art. The editor promises to uphold and defend the faith of his church to the best of his ability, but says his paper will also contain the latest and most important foreign and domestic news, besides correct financial and commercial reports. We welcome the Sentinel to the ranks of public journalism, and wish it success.

THE THEATER.—Last night the house was crowded full, every seat and all the standing room being occupied. Joe Murphy, in fact, had as much of a benefit as he could have had unless he put it in a larger building. And a more highly amused crowd we never witnessed. Perfectly deafening applause frequently greeted the inimitable impersonations of the Irishman, the Chinaman and the African by Joe. He'll do in the "show business." The Matinee this afternoon, and the evening entertainment promise a rare occasion for laughing off "dull care," to those who attend.

RE-APPEARANCE OF MRS. BATES.—The engagement of Joe Murphy, at Oro Fino will close with the present week, and then Mrs. Bates will appear in a succession of her great characters. Mr. Murphy's engagement has been a very successful one, but we are of the opinion that the people, having had a good, hearty, long laugh at his eccentricities, will very gladly welcome a season of legitimate drama; and no one with whom we are acquainted could more certainly look for a generous welcome than can Mrs Bates and the legitimate dramatic company who will appear with her.

ELECTION.—The following officers of Newellsville Lodge of Good Templars have been elected for the current term: W. C. T., G. B. Eberhard; W. R. H. S., Mrs. J. Jones; W. L. H. S., Mrs Eberhard, W. V. T., Mrs. M. Spencer; W. S., J. B. Jones; W. A. S., Miss Mary Jones; W. T., William Lichtenthaler; W. F. S., Miss Ellen Eberhard; W. M., S. N. Jones; W. D. M., Miss Louisa J. Spencer; W. Chap., J. G. Eberhard; W. I. G., John Spencer; W. O. G, H L Eberhard.

NEW FIRM—FINE GOODS.—Among the most reliable firms in Portland heretofore has been that of Jackson, Sanderson & Co. Mr. Sanderson has now sold out to W. Jackson & Co., and we doubt not that the same patrons and all others will find the new firm ready to treat customers in that way which will sustain the reputation of the house for fair dealing and moderate prices Their stock embraces the finest and largest variety of goods in the crockery line.

CRYSTAL LODGE.—This Lodge of Good Templars has installed the following persons as officers for the current term: W. C T., Thomas Johnston; R. S., Ada Carr, L S, M. A Winnie, W V T, Mrs. G Kellogg. W S, C. Solomon, W A. S., Annie Hayden; W. F., S. Tiermann, W T, Emma Hayden. W. M, J Frieze, W D M, Lizzie Frieze, W I G, Fannie Vollum W O G., J. Ormsby. W Chap., G. W. Vollum, P. W. C. T, R Martin.

OBSEQUIES.—The "Obsequies of Spiritualism" is the subject announced for a lecture to be delivered by Mrs Martin at Harmony Hall on to morrow, Sunday, evening at half past seven o'clock. Obsequies means funeral rites, so we suppose that Arnoup's "raps" of argument have had the effect to prepare the institution for burial. The lecture will be free to all, and every body is invited.

ERROR.—A provoking error of the types occurred in the correspondence concerning the estimated value of the property in our city. The figures representing the assessed value of all property and those representing the actual value were transposed, and a figure nine crept into the last total, making the estimated gold value $90 too much.

ANNUAL MEETING.—The annual meeting of the Portland Library Association will take place at the rooms of the Association As an election of officers is to take place and some important amendments to the Constitution to be acted upon, it is very desirable that the members all be present to day

MEETING.—A meeting of the Fenian Brotherhood will be held at the Armory of the Emmet Guard to-day at 2 P M As preparations are to be made for a grand celebration of St. Patrick's Day, a full attendance of the members is earnestly requested

PRODUCTS.—Fully five thousand bushels of wheat more, than three thousand sacks of flour, and nearly one thousand boxes of apples were received by the boats of the People's Transportation Company from the upper Wallamet, yesterday

HELD TO ANSWER.—G Green was yesterday held to answer to the Grand Jury of Multnomah county, upon a charge of threatening to kill Mrs Decker His bonds were fixed at $500, which were readily given

TO DAY.—The steamer Ajax will sail hence for San Francisco to day at 4 o'clock P. M Her cargo, which is mostly received, will be very large

SAILED.—The telegraph reports the sailing of the bark Almatia from San Francisco for Portland on last Thursday.

WILL CLOSE.—The mail per steamer Ajax will close to day at fifteen minutes after three o clock

FOREIGN NOTES—BY MAIL.

The condition of the farm laborer and peasant in some of the large countries on the European Continent does not come very favorably out of inspection. An able agriculturist, who has recently visited the principal districts, gives an unflattering report In France he found the average wages about a franc a day. The team men sleep with the cattle, two in a bed, or rather two in a box on a sack of straw, a rude floor being put up at one end of the sheds. The hours in summer were from 4 A. M to 8 P. M., and till noon on Sundays This was in Touraine, one of the most favored regions of France In Prussia, the men also sleep in the stable with their bullocks and horses, and the wages are less than in France. The weight of superincumbent mortgages is the load which depresses French agriculture, which exacts from it cries of distress and extorts from the French government successive commissions of inquiry. The one ambition of the French peasant is to buy more land. He will live for years on the barest and hardest fare which will support life, and then draw from the ground hoards of coin for the acquisition of more acres. So keen is this passion that he will mortgage deeply what he has, to obtain more and at this moment a very large portion of French land belongs to mortgagies who dwell in towns.

In France the ministers reside in the official hotel. The saloons are elegant, there is no rent to pay; the park is shady. Wife and children,—sometimes nephews and nieces,—make their nest here. It is hard to move, especially in winter time. The Constitutionnel says that the Duke de Morny once refused the ministry of the interior because he had just installed a handsome Chinese collection in the hotel of the Presidency of the Corps Legislatif, and if he removed his treasures and vases might suffer. M. Rouher found the Palace of the Louvre so suitable that he did not leave it for three years. The retiring minister occasionally has no private apartment in the city, and the new occupant arrives before the old one has gone. The first takes possession of the ground floor, and the other hides away in the attics. To prevent such embarrassments, our Paris cotemporary urges that ministers reside in their private dwellings. They may enjoy themselves, it says, somewhat less than their predecessors, but they will have the advantage of not complicating themselves with the sweets of a commodious life and of only taking with power the obligations which it imposes. They will thus escape from the reproach of loving it too much and from the suspicion of not wishing to lose it. As simple travelers, when public opinion gives the signal of departure they will betake themselves on their way and suffer nothing in their dignity. We do not see that this thoughtful consideration has been appreciated by the dignitaries whom it concerns; but men in power are proverbially dull.

French journalism leaps and bounds in its new found liberty. But the long worn fetters have embittered it, and the political contention going on is hot with passion and personality. Some one has taken the trouble to pick out instances of the way in which actors, candidates, speakers and writers are posed for their portraits. Thus Milliere is described as one who acts like a drunken man—on water; Lefrangris as an ambigu-comique Marat who wears all his beard; while Amoroux is a little, pale, sententious Gavroche, with the voice of an old woman. Maurice Joly is a man who is trying to build himself a pedestal with the stones that are thrown into his garden. Carnoti, in the electoral harlequinade, represents dignity, and is an eloquent representative of silence. Pouyer Quertier is a gargantuan orator—nothing is more surprising than Pouyer speaking—except Pouyer breakfasting! He used to drink three bottles of choice Bordeaux every evening at the Cafe d' Orsay. Jules Allix is accused of having been converted by Glais-Bizoin's kitchen rather than by his arguments. Gaillard, the younger, is so soft and sweet that he would not kill his fleas—if he had any—a point on which the writer confesses his ignorance. Gaillard, junior, is, however, furious when he remembers that he has been baptized. Raspail, a brilliant solitary man, lives on the summit of the mountain and is afraid that his shadow is in the pay of police. Lissagaray has a nut cracker temperament, and his eloquence sounds like window-breaking. In short, a large part of French journalism consists just now of invective.

Last month the Viceroy of Egypt gave audience to two newspaper special correspondents, Mr. J. C. Parkinson of the London Daily News, and Mr. E. Dicey of the Daily Telegraph, and to these two gentlemen he freely unbosomed himself as to his differences with Turkey. He was "interviewed," in fact, and this apparently by his own request and arrangement. A curious novelty in Eastern affairs? The burden of the Khedive's representations was that in Egypt the religious fanaticism of the Moslem population—the one formidable obstacle to progress—has been overcome, that in canals, railways, roads, military reform schools, &c., Egypt has always led the way, while to Sultans it is fundamentally impossible through their training and position to fuse Islam with modern civilization The defects of the Turkish administration were specified as freely as though the speaker were a Russian minister of foreign affairs. The viceroy, it appears, put the strangers quite at their ease, keeping no officials in the room He asked them to be seated, and began the conversation forthwith. "Anything less Oriental" says one of the correspondents, "according to conventional ideas of Orientalism, than the shrewd and courtly gentleman in a black surtout, who welcomes foreigners in a modern European drawing-room by a cordial shake of the hand, and whose sense of humor is as obvious as his knowledge of the world, it would be difficult to imagine There were maps and papers on a table, which gave the handsome chamber a half business air, and an interview with the urbane and able chief of some great administrative department at home is what an interview with the courteous Pharaoh of to day resembles most."

The Great Medical Mistake

Of former days was an utter neglect of sanitary precautions No sufficient means were adopted for the prevention of sickness. Sewerage was unknown in cities drainage was rarely attempted in the country Heaps of offal were left to rot in the public streets, and domestic cleanliness, the great antidote to filth diseases, was sadly neglected. It is not so now Wise laws, philanthropic institutions, and a vigilant sanitary police have, to a great extent, remedied the evil Nor is this all PREVENTIVE MEDICATION has helped materially to lessen the rates of mortality It is not too much to say that TENS OF THOUSANDS escape sickness in unhealthy seasons in consequence of having INVIGORATED THEIR SYSTEMS IN ADVANCE by a course of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. This pure and powerful vegetable tonic and alterative comprises the extracts and essences of a variety of roots and herbs, renowned for their strengthening soothing, vitalizing and purifying properties Those medicinal agents are incorporated with a spirit absolutely free from the acrid poison which defiles, more or less, all the liquors of commerce, and their effect is diffused through the whole frame by this active, yet harmless stimulant The result is such a condition of the system as renders it all but impervious to the exterior cause of disease, such as damp, fog, sudden alternations of temperature, &c. Strength, and the perfect regularity of all the functions of the body, are the best safeguards against atmospheric poison and the effects of unwholesome water, and HOSTETTER'S BITTERS are the best strengthening and regulating medicine at present known For dyspepsia and biliousness they are a SPECIFIC ABSOLUTE

SAN FRANCISCO Dec 7 1869

Dr J J McBride—Having suffered with sciatic rheumatism some months, I was induced to use your "King of Pain." I take pleasure in recommending it to those afflicted with rheumatism I know of several cases of neuralgia that have been cured by using it

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec 2 1869

To Dr. McBride—This is to certify that I have been troubled with neuralgia in my right arm and hand for the past three months, and although I have had medical advice, and tried a number of remedies, none has relieved me until I tried Dr McBride's "King of Pain," which has done me more good than all the other remedies I have tried.

DR. J. J. M'BRIDE,

TELLS YOUR DISEASE WITHOUT ASKING ANY QUESTIONS!

A CARD.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct 16 1869.

DR. McBRIDE—My Dear Sir For the last six or seven years I have been afflicted with rheumatic pains, from my knees down, embracing all the joints of ankle and toes. These pains have come upon me periodically every year, about this season of the year My knees and ankles, and toe joints, and my wrists and finger joints would swell and leave me in the most agonizing pain, known only to those who have suffered from this dread malady These pains would continue for a period of from three to four months every year, and they have been regular, unfailing annual visitors I have been accustomed to apply for relief to the best citizens of San Francisco, and have not failed to use all the popular remedies known to the public I would sometimes receive temporary relief, after long continued application, but it would never fail to return in a few days with increased severity

About two weeks ago, while my pains were upon me, I saw you at the corner of one of our streets, and heard what you said about your "King of Pain" I confess that I listened to you with deep distrust, indeed, I may say that I did not believe your statements. "Still," thought I, "it's only a dollar, and I'll patronize the 'humbug' one dollar's worth" I bought a bottle and tried it first on my knee, which was fearfully swollen, and from which I suffered very severely The second night I tried it again, and my dear Doctor, you can judge of my surprise, ecstacy and delight, altogether, when I found on rising the second morning, that my pains were entirely gone, and the swelling entirely disappeared My knee joints were as supple as when I was young. I actually danced with delight, much to the amusement of my friends, who had been in the habit of regarding me as a decrepid old rheumatic It has now been two weeks, and I have not felt the least symptom of return I believe I am cured and I feel so grateful to you that I offer you this statement, verified by my oath, to be used by you in whatever way you may think proper, and I feel it a duty to let others similarly afflicted know where they can find relief

I am yours, very truly, RAPHAEL LOOKAYSE

State of California, city and county of San Francisco On this 16th day of October 1869, personally appeared before me, a Justice of the Peace in and for the city and county of San Francisco aforesaid, Raphael Lookayse known to me to be the person who signed the foregoing letter, and who being by me duly sworn, deposes and says the contents thereof are true

T W TALIAFERRO, Justice of the Peace.

TO THE PUBLIC

Grateful for the eminent services of Dr J J McBride I cheerfully make a statement of the following facts For twelve months I had suffered from prostration of my nervous system, resulting in partial paralysis and almost total loss of sight. A score of physicians had abandoned my case as hopelessly incurable, I had even heard my days numbered by doctors and friends In the agonies of my neuralgia pain, I sought the great King of Pain Under that benign influence, in one half hour I had obtained more medical aid than I had known for long weary months My sight was so much restored that I could read print, although I had needed a guide to find Dr McBride's office an hour before Before leaving him I had regained the use of my almost palsied limbs, and seemingly my strength had returned, while all those aches and pains, my constant companions were dissipated and gone It is now ten days since I undertook treatment with Dr McBride, and I can say unhesitatingly that I am restored as I could not have expected to have been in so little time My eyesight is most perfectly regained, my whole physical system corrected and made doubted health

My residence is in Reading I do business at No. 85 Cambridge street, in this city, where I will willingly vouch in person for the truth of the foregoing to any one interested

Plymouth Church and Mr Beecher

[illegible] New York, Jan 18 [illegible]

Henry Ward Beecher and his church [illegible] Mr [illegible] as well [illegible] on this subject that there need [illegible] enter upon a description [illegible] of the points which [illegible] new to the scene may be [illegible] Plymouth Church [illegible] bare [illegible] but above all it [illegible] It is here that all the [illegible] are [illegible] of the ceremony of the English church or of the stiffness of the [illegible] meeting house There is [illegible] atmosphere [illegible] solemnity about any [illegible]

The people seem just about as [illegible] as they would [illegible] about as much at their ease The first [illegible]ers without waiting for guidance from ushers, scramble good naturedly for the [illegible] seats not the permanent property of [illegible]ders A little boy and girl [illegible] places on the pulpit stairs or platform [illegible] more properly for pulpit there is none and there whisper or play little games with their hands from the beginning to the end of service The deacons and other pillars of [illegible]ety meet in the aisles and chat pleasantly [illegible]r the pew sales the pastor's salary and so [illegible]th Then the pastor appears from a side [illegible]or takes his seat where no rosewood bul[illegible]rk conceals him from the full view of the congregation and reads the accumulation of [illegible]cuments on his desk, while the great con[illegible]urse pours into the pews until there is not [illegible] inch of available space unoccupied in the [illegible]use

Then after the services begin this comfort[illegible]le, make-your-self at-home tone of affairs [illegible]ntinues The congregation has evidently [illegible]come accustomed to expecting entertain[illegible]ent in the reading of notices as well as in [illegible] sermon, by the way it settles itself to in[illegible]rested listening And it would be hard to [illegible]agine anything more droll than Mr Beech[illegible]'s reading of a note informing him that as a [illegible]od result of his last remarks on hospitality [illegible] the church, one of the deacons has actually [illegible]rne with good humor the appearance of [illegible]rangers in his pew, and has even consented [illegible] sit a little crowded But more food for [illegible]ailes is to come, when Mr Beecher alludes [illegible] his great success in making sixty calls on [illegible]ow Year's Day, and the folly of his attempt [illegible] continue the experience on the following [illegible]eek, how instead of finding the doors all [illegible]pen as on the previous occasion he had to [illegible]ait five minutes or so for the maid to admit [illegible]m, how instead of finding the hostess all [illegible] readiness he had to wait still longer for her [illegible] adorn a face already sufficiently comely, [illegible]ow instead of two-minute calls a current of [illegible]onversation was started keeping him from [illegible]alf an hour to an hour in each house, and [illegible]ow on the Wednesday devoted to the busi[illegible]ess, instead of making the circuit of a great [illegible]istrict, as he had unhesitatingly promised, [illegible]e had made just twelve calls, yet how he pro[illegible]oses to continue in the unthinkingly, to de[illegible]ote every Wednesday to calls, and if he im[illegible]roves in celerity of visiting to let his con[illegible]regation know

Of course all this light, humorous talk, is [illegible]nt the preface to the main business of the [illegible]ermon, But the sermon I shall not under[illegible]ake to describe. Suffice it that the Bostonian [illegible]ho has heard Henry Ward Beecher only on [illegible]he lecture platform knows but a small frac[illegible]ion of the man He is a great pulpit orator [illegible]nd many-sided as he seems, here is where [illegible] real power exists, His popular lectures [illegible]is editorial work, his Ledger essays and se[illegible]ial novel writing, his political adventures, [illegible]ut the pastimes of a strong mind really de[illegible]oted to one chief and predominant work [illegible]nd finely as his sermons read in their pam[illegible]hlet reports or bound volumes, he has no [illegible]pprecations of their real merit and beauty [illegible]ho has not heard them warm from the [illegible]reacher's lips and fresh from his heart, [illegible]ithout one word of doctrine, without a [illegible]entence which a child could not understand, [illegible]lowing with imagery, full of original inter[illegible]retations of Scripture, abounding in that [illegible]rnest power of oratory which comes from [illegible] combination of simplicity, sincerity, and [illegible]enius.

Philanthropy of an Indian Agent

Not very long ago I happened to be pres[illegible]nt at the signing of one of the endless, and [illegible]ndlessly broken "treaties of eternal peace [illegible]nd amity" made between the United States [illegible]nd one of the wildest tribes, which had for [illegible]ore than eight years been at continual warfare [illegible]ith the whites. The scene was a wild valley [illegible] the shadow of the Rocky Mountains, [illegible] with the lodges and wigwams of the as[illegible]embled tribesmen The Commissioner, es[illegible]orted by a body of dragoons, were there in [illegible] council, and, one after another the [illegible] chiefs affixed their marks to a docu[illegible]ent, the contents of which were explained [illegible] them. Shortly afterward I was riding [illegible]hrough the encampment with an official of [illegible]he Indian Department—one of those wan[illegible]ering-eyed Yankees who had been not inapt[illegible]y described as "forever looking about for [illegible]omething to patent and make twenty-five [illegible]housand dollars by." Suddenly his eyes [illegible]ighted on a splendid mule, and close by [illegible] Indian, sitting at the base of a tree smok[illegible]ng.

"Whose is that mule?" he asked

"Mine," was the rather surly reply

"Well, you look here," said the official, "you know very well that you stole that mule from the whites, and that by the treaty and stipulations which you, as one of the chiefs, have signed, you have agreed to give up all property stolen from the whites under pain of losing your annuity next year Now, I won't be so hard on you as that See I will give you an order on the trader for twenty dollars for the mule, and say nothing about it!"

The Indian's eyes absolutely flamed as the man spoke, but he saw he was outwitted, and accordingly took the twenty dollars for a mule worth two hundred and fifty I remarked to my friend that this was "rather smart practice."

"Wal, yes," was the rejoinder, as with an air of self satisfaction he cut a chew of tobacco, "it is rayther, colonel but one has to be smart. I don't know how it is in your part of the country, but in our n 'the longest pole knocks down the persimmons And tell ye what, it takes a tol'ble long pole to make a livin' in the Indian department But I guess I ain't done so bad for the Injun Ef that old cuss, the superintendent hed come along he would immediately, with a long lectur' on the sinfulness of his ways, hev taken that mule from the critter—confiscated it. Then with a face as long as a fence rail he would hev marked down in the books—'Bought a mule for the use of the department, two hundred and fifty dollars,' marking opposit the first transaction—'Stolen by the Shoshones, in a raid on the Reservation, Aug 14' which you will perceive makes a clear profit to the godly old sinner of five hundred dollars cash Oh! I guess" he continued laughing, I've done a philanthropic turn Guess I've got religion, and ll turn church-member when I get to hum Why a hull team o parsons and a meetin house to let, ain't a patch on this child' —(Cornhill Magazine

IMPORTANT STATISTICS — Some statistical genius declares that more money is expended in the United States for cigars than for all the common schools in the country A wag who is undoubtedly a lover of the weed [illegible] ing the statement going through the papers gets off the following

It is estimated that the cost of washing linen which might just as well be worn two days longer amounts to enough in this country to more than to defray the expenses of the American Board of Foreign Missions The expense of buttons on the backs of our coats where there are no earthly use is equal to the support of all our Orphan Asylums It is estimated that the value of old [illegible] laid aside which might have been worn at least a day longer is more than enough to buy a flannel nightgown for every baby in the land Also, that the cost of the extra inch on the full shirt-collars of our young men is equal to the sum necessary to put a Bible in the hands of every Patagonian giant

A valetudinarian who consulted a physician was questioned as to his general habits Having told how much and what he ate, how many cigars he smoked, &c he was asked what he drank ' Whatever the other man orders was the reply

Dominica

[illegible] has the [illegible] tion with [illegible] newly proposed territory of [illegible] the treaty for annexation of which was recently sent into the Senate

This [illegible] which has been [illegible] chase of the Bay of Samana [illegible] Senate [illegible] has been known [illegible] missioners to that island [illegible] probability [illegible] the general sanction of the people [illegible] being in [illegible] and we [illegible] on the part of both houses of Congress

Unless we are greatly at fault in our appreciation of the tendencies of the times the stand now taken by General Grant will hereafter be considered as one of the glories of the present Administration It inaugurates a healthful policy which will result in a few years in establishing the United States as the dominant power in the Antilles Who can doubt that we are upon the eve of peacefully establishing our flag upon the four greater islands between the Caribbean Sea and the Gulf of Mexico In the natural order of things it is to be expected that a friendly negotiation with Spain will result in the transfer to us of Cuba and Porto Rico that Hayti will follow the example of the Dominican Republic and that Jamaica with perhaps the Bermudas and the Bahamas will become items in the balance sheet of our pending settlement with England

It is for the interest of the world that these changes be effected and that right speedily The construction of the Darien canal which is one of the events of the near future will necessarily involve their accomplishment but there is no necessity for postponing it till then When once we have recognized a policy, the mere details of its execution will naturally and easily shape themselves It is as certain that our future is largely bound up in the extension of our naval power as it was twenty years since that England was fully committed to the annexation of the realms of India, or as it now is that Prussia is destined to preside over a reconstructed Germany It is well, then, that the inevitable be accepted as such and that instead of blindly resigning ourselves to fate, we aid in shaping events in their most desirable form

The Squire and his Wife

The squire had a friend to visit him on business, and was very much annoyed to be interrupted by his wife, who came to ask him what he wanted for dinner

'Go away let us alone!' impatiently said the squire

Business detained the friend until after dinner time, and the squire urged him to remain The squire was a generous provider, proud of his table, and he complacently escorted his friend to a seat A little to the surprise of both they saw nothing on the board but a huge dish of salad, which the good wife began quietly to dish up

' My dear," said the squire "where are the meats?

' There are none to-day, said his lady

"No meats! What in the name of poverty! The vegetables then Why don t you have them brought in?

"You didn't order any '

"Order' I didn t order anything, said the amazed squire

' You forget, ' coolly answered the housewife, ' I asked what we should have, and you said lettuce alone Here it is

The friend burst into a laugh, and the squire, after looking lugubrious a moment, joined him

"Wife, I give it up, I owe you one Here is the fifty dollars you wanted for that carpet which I denied you The squire forked over "Now let us have peace and some dinner "

The good woman pocketed the paper rang the bell, and a sumptuous repast of fish, poultry and vegetables was brought in

A few days afterward the squire remained working in his garden long after the usual tea hour His wife grew impatient of delay, and went to find him. His excuse when asked what he was waiting for, threw her into a flutter of excitement.

" Some one s to come to supper, she, exclaimed, "Why didn t you tell me? I declare you are the provokingest man!"

And without asking which of his friends were expected, she hastened to change her dress and slick up her hair for the occasion This done she came out and found squire seated at the table reading his newspaper

"Where s your company?"

"My company! I haven't any company. '

"But you said you expected somebody to supper," exclaimed the indignant wife

"My dear, ' I said no such thing " You asked me what I was waiting for, and I said 'summons to come to supper,' that's what I waiting for, my dear, and I came at once "

"And you have made me go and change my dress. Oh, I'll pay you for this."

"No matter about it my dear I owed you, you remember for your lettuce

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL San Francisco Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases such as Gonorrhoea Gleet Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency etc Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a [illegible] miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene Let parents, guardians friends attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies that they are cured for and cured before it be too late Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon a physician who has made private diseases his special study for years and who is certain to cure them without inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs It is important to those who are afflicted, to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry or you may fall into the hands of these pretenders

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emission is the consequence of self-abuse This solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms unless combatted by scientific medical measures viz Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes pain in the head ringing in the ears noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots [illegible] about the loins weakness of the limbs confused vision, blunted intellect loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers a dislike to form new acquaintance, a disposition to shun society loss of memory hectic flushes pimples and various eruptions about the face furred tongue fetid breath coughs [illegible] night sweats monomania and frequently insanity If relief be not obtained should apply immediately either in person or by letter and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure Dr G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of his complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay obtain immediate relief

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible and will give to each patient a written instrument binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure or make no charge

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr Gibbon, stating case symptoms length of time the disease has continued and have medicines promptly forwarded free from damage and curiosity to any part of the country with full and plain directions for use for Ten Dollars sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co

Caution to the Unfortunate

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who with bogus sworn to certificates dupe the unwary Some of the self styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places are tradesmen and became too lazy to work at their trades Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers newspaper [illegible] intelligence office keepers etc Look over the San Francisco Directory and you will not find the Medical Institutes [illegible] but you will find their former occupations in it Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863 The only way to avoid imposition is to make enquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are Dr Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles certificates, pretended patient's letters etc Dr Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he professes to cure

Address DR J F GIBBON 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, (Private Entrance on Commercial) San Francisco Post Office Box 252
